BYCC 19-21 Nov 2010 "BYCC" - Baltimore Youth Catholic Conference is for high school youth only. It is sponsored by the Archdiocese of Baltimore, and brings together high school youth from 154 parishes. The theme is "Heroes". Joseph Campbell, an American author said...."A hero is someone who has given his or her life to something bigger than oneself". [Does that sound like a Jesus thing?]

This year, we had to book the ENTIRE Clarion Resorts Fontainebleau Hotel because there are so many youth planning to attend. Spend a weekend in Ocean City with 600 other CATHOLIC teenagers.

Cost is $250 (plus transportation and meals— approximate total $375). Registration begins 7 September—permission form and $250 gets you into BYCC.

Need some funds to attend—help sell flowers!

Plant sale.....Weekend of 25—26 September

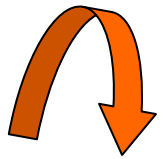

That sounds like something my Mother would say...

The true test of love, is loving without testing. [Judges 6.36-40]

October Events

ReMiX is the new name for the Middle School Religious Education Program at St Paul's. It's different—3 sessions, 5 classes in each session. Also has retreats and service projects. WOW! If you're not registered—sign up
